The Texas Dep't. Store Annex

The fast growing mammoth Texas Department Store find that the 3 buildings, double decked, that they now occupy is inadequate to carry their immense stock and have each department complete within itself, and have taken a lease on the 150 foot Ketch building. The annex will carry a new and complete furniture stock including carpets, matting, linoleums, rugs, wall paper, queens-ware and etc. With this department will also be added a new, modern and "up to the times" undertaking parlor, where no effort or expense will be spared in making it complete; also a full line of picture moulding and an art department. We feel that in buying our goods as we do, in large quantities, that we are in position to beat the price and in our annex you will find exceptional bargains. We have recently bought three cars furniture, namely, a mixed car, a straight car, double cane and dining room chairs and a straight car iron beds, spring cots, steel couches and davenports. In buying this way one is bound to get the price regardless of what the "other fellow" says, and you save money by doing business with us.

TEXAS DEPARTMENT STORE.

P. S.—"Hi Ki", Charlie Parrish (as he is familiarly known) will be in charge of this department in our annex. Charlie is a jolly, good natured fellow and tells us he will make good and save the trading public money as the prices we are selling goods at is far less than what he has seen or ever heard of. This is easy, though when you consider the quantities and quantities we have, Charlie is formerly of Roff and has a large acquaintance throughout this section of Oklahoma, he is considered ONE of the best furniture men and undertakers in Oklahoma, having been in the business for himself and making a success of it. Prior to his business experience in Roff he was with the Street & Reed Furniture and Undertaking Co., of Oklahoma City, which within itself is an endorsement. Hoping to see you in our furniture, undertaking and queensware emporium, yours,

BUCK WALL, Manager.

Booze at Allen.

Bob Nester, Bob Duncan and Arthur Barrett proceeded to the little town of Allen Saturday morning, last, with search and seizure warrants and proceeded to clean out a few of the booze joints in that burg. They secured two wagon loads of the contraband goods and made four arrests, but the names of those arrested are not known at this time.

The jointists were taken by complete surprise, as Allen is a quiet little place, far from official protection, and has remained undisturbed for so long. The wet goods were brought to Ada and placed in the sheriff's boozery at the court house where it will age and mellow until the arrival of the state inspector on his next pilgrimage from Guthrie.

Officers Should Be Courteous.

When any man, whether through appointment or election becomes a public officer, whether as scavenger or governor, it is especially his duty, whether or not it is his instinct or training to be courteous to those citizens with whom he comes in contact in the conduct of the business of his office.

SANITARY CONDITIONS GOOD.

Factory Report Shows the Labor Conditions in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, July 17.—G. E. Warren State Factory Inspector finished compiling his report on factory inspection today. The total number of girls under eighteen years of age employed in factories is 37. The total number of boys under sixteen years of age employed in factories is 39; total number of females employed in factories and work-houses 1,282. Total number of males employed in factories and work-houses 11,070. Females employed in bakeries, six. Males employed in bakeries 303. Total number of fatal accidents, five. Total number of non-fatal accidents, one hundred and twenty-three. Number of accidents reported by regular reports 60. Number of bakeries inspected, 159. Number of factories and workshops inspected 823. Forty-four orders for sanitary corrections were issued to bakeries. Two hundred and ninety orders for sanitation correction were issued to factories and workshops. Five hundred and twenty-one orders to correct defects in building, machinery and sanitation and to stop child labor were issued. The total number of employees in factories, workshops and bakeries, twelve thousand six hundred and seventy. Inspections were made in one hundred and seven towns and cities. Twenty-four orders were issued to employers to provide separate water-closets.

Encourages Mob Spirit.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee has reversed the verdict in the cases of the participants in the Reelfoot Lake murder, and ordered a new hearing in the case. The reversal was purely on a technicality. There is not a shadow of a doubt but that the men were guilty, and it is to be regretted that just punishment is not allowed to be meted out. Just such proceedings as this is what feeds the mob spirit, and makes people have no confidence in the protection of the law.—Kingston Messenger.

WHITTAKER SET FREE BY HIS COMPANIONS

OKLAHOMA WIFE MURDERER ARRESTED IN KENTUCKY THEN RELEASED.

Mountaineer Companions Swoop Down on Officers and Secure Freedom for Their Friend.

Grover C. Whittaker, who shot his wife, Mrs. Olive Whittaker, in Oklahoma City last November, has been captured and again released at Channel City, Ky. While the officers were with their prisoner awaiting a train, twenty men overpowered them and compelled the release of Whittaker.

A warrant had been sent from here to the Kentucky authorities for the arrest of Whittaker and there was a reward of $300 for his capture, offered by Governor Haskell on behalf of the state.

C. H. Castle, the officer who made the capture, has written the details of the arrest and rescue to Sheriff Garrison. The message follows in full.

H. Garrison, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Sir:—I arrested Grover Whittaker at Cannell City, Morgan county, Ky., on the 12th at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and was overpowered by about twenty armed men, so I had to release my prisoner. I think Whittaker will be at Cannell City any time you want him. You need not expect any help from Morgan county officials and you can't trust any one in that country. I done a sick piece of detective work in catching him but couldn't work it out. If I had not the wires between the two towns I could have made it. If you will have your governor raise the reward and make it dead or alive and you will come here I will go with you and we will make the capture. Respectfully, C. H. Castle.

The officers were expecting to bring Whittaker to Oklahoma City and claim the reward. A few minutes before the train arrived a party of mountaineers, friends and relatives of the accused man, rode into the city, went to the station, forcibly took possession of the prisoner and ordered the officers to leave town. The officers left and Whittaker rode back to the mountains. No further effort has been made to capture him.

Sheriff Garrison some time ago received a letter from a man in Cannell City claiming to know where Whittaker was hiding. He said he wanted to capture him and return him to this city and asked that a warrant be sent him, which was done by Under Sheriff C. C. Colt. He said in his letter that he feared friends of Whittaker's might learn of the attempt and give out information. He asked that no publicity be given his letter.

Whittaker shot his wife on the street one Sunday evening last November, while she was in company with Neil Wilkerson at the corner of First and Robinson streets. He escaped from the city, believing her to be mortally wounded. He was harbored by relatives at Ardmore, until he learned that his wife had improved. When it seemed that she would live Whittaker surrendered and came back. After being held in jail a few days he was released on a $5,000 cash bond.

In January when she was still improving, the two patched up the differences which led to the fit of jealousy which caused the shooting.

On February 21 Mrs. Whittaker died suddenly. Whittaker, knowing her dangerous condition, would not visit the house, fearing arrest. He again left town and has not been heard of until his capture and sensational release.

Cannon a Diplomat.

Old Cannon is nothing if not a diplomat. During the recent discussion of the tariff on ladies' hosiery in the house, a delegation of young women hosiery workers from Philadelphia called on Speaker Cannon, says the dispatches. "When the club women of Chicago called to see me about the duties on gloves," the speaker said, "I asked them why girls with such beautiful arms should want to cover them up with gloves reaching clear to the shoulders. Now here you are to see me about stockings." That was where he stopped. The young women retreated.

NEW LIFE GIVEN FREE TRADE MOVEMENT

DUE TO THE RECENT UPWARD REVISION OF THE TARIFF.

More Than Likely That the Tariff Question Will Be the Issue in the Next Campaign.

That the upward revision of the tariff schedules by congress has given new life to the free trade movement has been made evident by the recent activity of the numerous advocates of that economic principle, and the probability that the Aldrich tariff bill will pass both houses of congress and receive the signature of the president, with minor and comparatively unimportant alterations, leads to the belief that free trade versus protection may become one of the prime issues in the next national campaign.

The tariff reform committee of the Reform Club of New York recently issued an address to the press of the United States announcing the principles of the organization and urging all persons of concurrent views to join with them in an effort to consolidate the free-trade sentiment of the nation. In addition to setting forth the virtues of free trade, the address is a most powerful arraignment of the protective tariff policy, for which reason, primarily, its most important declarations are herewith reproduced:

1.—That protection erects artificial barriers between nations, preventing that natural and healthful interchange of products which makes for increased comfort, for peace, and for the solidarity of mankind.

2.—That protection, by reducing the quantity of incoming foreign goods, reduces the buying-power represented by such goods, and consequently subtracts from the demand for merchandise and labor which would inevitably be fostered by the unrestricted freedom of exchange.

3.—That protection, in addition to lessening the demand for labor and to a consequent reduction of wages, greatly increases the cost of necessities, thus becoming a powerful agent in dragging down the condition of our wage-earning classes.

4.—That protection has not only become the mother of trusts, but that, by stifling foreign competition, it has granted them a license to prey upon the community.

5.—That protection encourages extravagance in national expenditures, which, as they are paid by taxes on what the people consume, are in the main extracted from the pockets of the wage-earning and salaried classes.

6.—That protection, by its methods of indirection, cunningly disguises the incidence of taxation, and thus weakens that desirable interest in legislation and in government policies which direct taxation tends to develop.

7.—That protection, which is in effect a process of class-enrichment by legislative favor, is a festering source of political corruption.

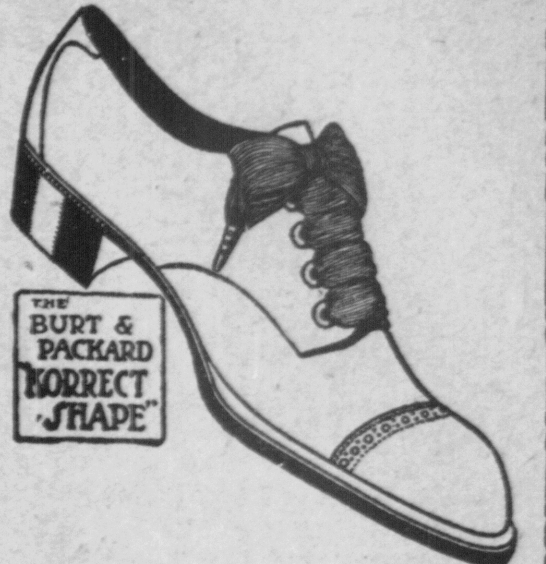

8.—That protection, by engendering special over-production due to excessive profits and widespread under-consumption due to excessive prices, contributes to producing those panics which cause so much human waste and misery.

9.—That protection, by conferring on favored classes the right to tax their fellow citizens and by the consequent unequal and inequitable distribution of the boundless wealth which is created by the energy and natural resources possessed by the American people, has generated resentments which express themselves by dangerous methods intended to wrench from its possessors a portion of the wealth which has been unjustly appropriated.

10.—That protection, by the swollen fortunes which it heaps up for its beneficiaries, and by the concentrated, selfish class-interests which it fosters, becomes so powerful through their ability and readiness to debauch public opinion by the expenditure of money, that it can never be dislodged until the great body of our people are brought to realize its wasteful, sinful, anti-social character.

BAIL FOR SCRIBNERS.

John and Frank Granted Bail in the Sum of $8,500 Each.

District Clerk W. T. Cox is in receipt of a letter from Judge Robert M. Rainey stating that he has decided to grant bail to John Scribner in the sum of $7,500 and to Frank Scribner in the sum of $8,000 in the case charging the murder of Little Scribner. The bonds for them in the Putnam case had already been agreed upon in the sum of $1,000 for John and $500 for Frank. As the matter now stands their bonds will be $8,500 each for both cases.

It will be remembered that Judge Rainey took this matter under advisement at the time he adjourned court at this place, having already refused to grant bail to Andy Scribner. It is understood that there is not likely to be any difficulty in securing these bonds, in which event John and Frank Scribner will go free until their case comes up at some future term of the district court.

Income Tax Amendment Proposed by
New State in 1908—Other Proposals Discussed.

Guthrie, Ok., July 17.—"I compliment the president of the United States for having gone far enough in the waste basket of his predecessor and found a sensible proposition," said Gov. Haskell today when asked what Oklahoma's attitude would be on the proposed income tax amendment to be submitted to the states. "That is an Oklahoma proposition, and the voters will have to endorse it or turn turtle on their position of fourteen months ago. We drew several amendments, among them being for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, employers' liability law, permitting states to regulate the charge for transportation within the states, allowing states to regulate the sale or transportation of articles injurious to health and public morals as well as convict-made goods, and for an income tax law. They were submitted to the legislature and approved in detail.

"Then we had a state holiday, May 7, 1908, when the people assembled in their meeting houses and adopted memorials which were sent to Washington, and in the meantime we sent copies of the general memorial to the house and the senate, and His Excellency, the president, then Theodore Roosevelt, and nothing more was heard of them.

"Twenty-seven states joined Oklahoma on the direct election of United States senators, but were not included in the other propositions. It now appears that the nation is following Oklahoma's lead, for Washington should know that we suggested the income tax provision fourteen months ago."

The income tax amendment proposed in the memorial referred to by Gov. Haskell reads:

"Congress shall have power to provide for the collection of a uniform tax upon the gains, profits and incomes received by every citizen or person of the United States, including every corporation, association, or company doing business for profit in the United States, subject to such exemptions as it may deem proper."

WHAT'S MATTER WITH WATER.

Ada's Pure Water Supply Has Been Tampered With and One Is Required to Hold Nose or Perform His Bath Before Taking Plunge.

There is much complaint among the water patrons of the city that lately the water is not only unfit to drink, but more, is nauseating when played at being used for bath purposes. Mr. Ike Harris complains that the water stinks, smells worse than rotten eggs and as bad as rotten horses.

Ada has two sources of water supply, one from Sandy river and one from the 100 acre reservoir located one mile east of town. What is the matter? The subject is worthy of the immediate and serious consideration of the city health officer.

Cherokee Strip Celebration.

Enid, Ok., July 18.—Plans are being laid for a grand celebration of the sixteenth anniversary of the opening of the Cherokee Strip, to take place Sept. 16. As this city is the largest town in the "Strip" and the metropolis of Northern Oklahoma, it is proposed to hold the celebration here. The exercises will probably be held at the new fair grounds, in the mammoth stock pavillion, which is 150 feet wide and 70 feet long, entirely covered, and with a seating capacity in the center for 2,500 people. Although the plans have hardly assumed shape at this time, it is the intention to have some of the original old settlers of prominence tell of their experiences, and to have a general good time, with cowboy races, roping contests and all the sports which were in vogue
at the time of the opening.

Big Real Estate Deal.

Probably the biggest deal in resident property ever consummated in Ada was the purchase of the Donaghey addition last Saturday by Hardin & Blanks, the consideration for same being $10,000. This addition lies east of Sunrise and South of Capitol Hill and is located on the north side of Main street in east Ada. The Normal school location is in the southeast corner of the tract and the entire plot is elegant resident property. The tract originally contained 166 lots, but some have been sold, 15 houses and a ward school building having been erected thereon since last September.

Messrs. Hardin & Blanks have some valuable property in this investment and will, at an early date, offer some choice bargains in resident property to those seeking such location.

Notice of Sheriff Sale.

By virtue of an execution to be directed and delivered, issued out of the office of the county treasurer in an action wherein taxes have become delinquent, I will on the 22nd day of July 1909, between the hours of 11 a. m. o'clock and 2 p. m. o'clock of the said day at Ada in the county aforesaid, offer at public sale and sell to the highest bidder cash in hand the following described property belonging to whom specified, to-wit:
One bay horse branded M on side,
M M M on hip and M M M on thigh
and M M M on jaw, ten years old,
the same belonging to Isaac Johnson;
also one bay mare ten years old branded H R on left thigh the same belonging to Scott Johnson; also one brown horse, ten years old belonging to Steve Richardson; also one grey mare, five years old branded 5 on left shoulder and 5 on left hip, belonging to Sie Richardson.
Said property having been levied on as the property of the said Isaac Johnson, Scott Johnson, Steve Richardson and Sie Richardson respectfully, in order as above described.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put to gether, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local dis-

and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cat-

Dick Working Hard.

If the newspaper boys only knew how hard Warden Dick had been working to try to take care of the state convicts and to get them at work instead of their remaining an entire charge on the state, they would go slow about commenting on the "investigation." The biggest fool thing this state ever did, in all its manifold folly, was to rush all its convicts down here when it didn't even have a cattle pen in which to house them.—McAlester News.

"Equivocal," Says Bryan.

Kansas City, Mo., July 17.—After reading the White House statement as to President Taft's position on the tariff, William J. Bryan, who passed through here today on a lecture tour said that he considered the president's statement rather equivocal. He said if the president meant that the house bill was revision downward, he was mistaken.

"The house did not make a downward revision of the tariff," said Mr.
Bryan. "The acceptance of anything like the house bill cannot result in a reduction of the tariff."

Taft Will Win ON TARIFF FIGHT

CONFEREES UNDERSTAND THE PRESIDENT'S DEMAND FOR LOW DUTIES.

Lawmakers Also Change Their Minds After Frequent Trips to the White House.

Washington, July 17.—President Taft will win his fight for free or reduced rates of duty on raw materials. Nearly every member of the conference on the tariff bill conceded this today.

Indications are that when the new tariff bill becomes a law the rates on the articles which the president desired to come in free will be as follows:

- Iron ore, free (present rate 40 cents per ton.)
- Oil, free (now protected by countervailing duty.)
- Hides, 7 1-2 per cent ad valorem, present rate 15 per cent.)
- Coal, 35 cents per ton (present rate 67 cents.)
- Lumber, probably $1.25 on rough, with senate rates on finished. This would be a material reduction throughout the lumber schedule.

Now Believe Taft.
When the conference transferred to the president's shoulders the responsibility of putting the foregoing raw materials on the free list, it was not believed he would meet with immediate success in bringing about a changed sentiment in relation to those articles.

For several days, however, members of congress have been going to the White House and not a few of them came away convinced that the president was right in insisting that all of these articles could stand lower duties.

It was not believed he would be able to put hides, lumber or coal on the free list; but it was acknowledged that any reduction of the pending bill on these articles would amount to an administration triumph.

That a change of sentiment had taken place in the senate in the matter of free iron ore and free oil was a matter of common gossip about the capitol today. It was stated just as confidently that the fifteen per cent ad valorem rates on hides would have to be cut in half. Coal at 45 cents a ton, it was declared, would prove satisfactory to every section except Wyoming, which fears that the industry in that state might be ruined by cheap Canadian coal.

Rev. Grow of Atoka Saves a Little Girl From Drowning.

Atoka, Okla., July 14.—In Atoka there lives a real hero. He is the Rev. Grow. A few days ago a number of the young people of this city were having a picnic on the shores of a river south of town, and the children were wading in the water. Mildred Johnston suddenly disappeared beneath the surface of the river. Without hesitation Rev. Grow ran to the river and plunged in after her just as she was disappearing for the last time. The little girl grabbed him by the neck. After a short struggle he succeeded in getting her to the shore.

THE LIME LIGHT

PRESIDENT OF DARTMOUTH

Prof. Ernest Fox Nichols, D. Sc., former head of the department of physics at Dartmouth college and now professor of experimental physics at Columbia university, was recently unanimously elected president of Dartmouth, to succeed Dr. William Tucker, who resigned May 12, 1907, on account of ill health, at a meeting of the trustees.

Prof. Nichols, although not a graduate of Dartmouth, is an honorary alumnus. He was given the degree of doctor of science in 1903, and from 1898 to 1903 was at the head of the physics department of the college. His work as a member of the faculty brought international distinction to the college and himself.

Dr. Nichols was born in 1869 at Leavenworth, Kan., and was graduated at the age of 19 from the Kansas Agricultural college. The next year was spent in teaching, and the following years as a graduate student in mathematics and physics at Cornell university, where he held the Erastus Brooks fellowship. He received from Cornell the degree of master of science in 1893 and of doctor of science in 1897.

In 1892 he was appointed to the chair of physics and astronomy in Colgate university. Dr. Nichols was at Colgate for six years, but two and a half years of the time was spent on leave of absence, studying under Professors Planck and Rubens of the University of Berlin. While a student in the Berlin laboratory he made several discoveries, which were received and published by the Royal Prussian Academy of Sciences.

HAS KILLED 130 TIGERS

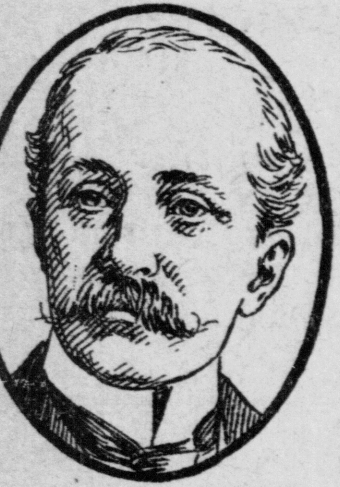

Sainthill Eardley-Wilmot, who arrived in England a few days ago on a visit home after 35 years' service in India, probably holds the world's record as a hunter of tigers. He admits that he has a bag of 130 to his credit, but throughout India he is known and revered by the natives as the greatest killer of tigers in the world, and their estimates of the score that should be credited to his gun varies from hundreds to thousands.

Eardley-Wilmot has been in the service of the Indian forest department for 35 years, and for the last six years he has been inspector-general of forests to the Indian government. He knows almost every mile of the forests of India, and has met with many adventures, but he is far too modest to talk about them.

Eardley-Wilmot is a quiet looking man of middle height. His hair and close-cropped mustache are turning gray, and he has the firm jaw and resolute eye of the born administrator.

Eardley-Wilmot cannot be induced to describe his experiences. A friend said that the natives of India believe he cannot be killed. He belongs to a family which has given many efficient servants to the state. An Eardley-Wilmot is an admiral; another is a high dignitary of the Church of England; a third is a professor in one of the great universities; a fourth is a soldier who has earned distinction in more than one of England's "little wars." The head of the family, Sir John Eardley-Wilmot, is a baronet.

HOW HE DODGES DEBTS

Prince Miguel de Braganza is the original "On-Again-Off-Again Finnegan" of European royalty. He is the hero of more striking matrimonial alliances in the newspapers than Lillian Russell. He has just done it again. This time it was "Miss M. Vanderbilt." For a day or so the report received much attention. America was interested, wondering just which Vanderbilt heiress had bought another title. A large bevy of the prince's creditors were interested, for they saw a possibility of getting some of their money back. Now the entire Vanderbilt family arises to deny any engagement with the prince whatever.

The prince is crown-prince-pretender to the throne of Portugal. His grandfather was really king of that country for an hour or so, by virtue of his nerve and a shady claim on a dead king. Then he was driven out of the country, and the parliament passed a law denying any royal rights whatever to him or any of his descendants.

The present self-nominated fiancé to a Vanderbilt is a gay and quite irresponsible fellow, who is a real relative of the imperial house of Austria. He was recognized there until his capers led to his being handed his hat and an invitation to leave. He still claims the Portuguese throne, but in a whisper and from a safe distance. He has borrowed much money of the royal pawnbrokers of Europe, and at short intervals, when they become insistent, he announces his approaching marriage to some rich woman. Once it was the very wealthy Mrs. Samuel Sloane Chauncey of St. Louis. But she promptly stopped the game with a denial as prompt as emphatic. Then it was Miss Mary Pullman of Chicago. Miss Mary also saw the princeling first, and side-stepped.

BUILT FOUR BIG BRIDGES

Gustavus Lindenthal, bridge builder, is watching the fourth great product of his work and ingenuity being brought to completion in New York. This is the big Manhattan bridge, just north of the Brooklyn bridge, nearly two miles long and containing 50,000 tons of steel. It is to carry four railroad tracks, four trolley tracks, the driving and motoring highways, and to cost $20,000,000. Some distance to the north is the Hell Gate bridge, designed to carry the heaviest load ever placed on any bridge in the world. It is three miles long, and will cost $28,000,000. Near the Manhattan bridge is the enormous Queensborough bridge, recently opened to traffic, and a short distance away the big Williamsburg bridge. All these are the work of Lindenthal.

And yet, 30 years ago, the builder was a mason and stone carpenter, doing journeyman work day by day in Philadelphia. He was finally taken into a railroad construction office, essayed the biggest and boldest of engineering jobs, and after ten years was made commissioner of bridges.

ANTI-SUFFRAGIST RECRUIT

Bishop William Croswell Doane of Albany, N. Y., is a powerful recruit to the forces of the anti-suffragists. In his address to the graduating class of a girls' school, the bishop came out strongly on the subject, declaring that the war for votes could add nothing to womanhood, but is daily losing the dignity and influence of the sex. He added equally cutting suggestions of "hysterical clamor," "howling-dervish performances," and other unpleasant characterizations.

Bishop Doane, for more than 50 years a bearer of episcopal honors, is the son of another famous Bishop Doane in New Jersey. He is fond of the so-called "high" church ideas, and is one of the very few American bishops who adhere strictly to the English episcopal dress—the gaiters, shovel hat and all. It is recorded that at one time he went so far as to sign himself "William of Albany," like a prince of the world, but he gave that up when it attracted comment and some ridicule. He has been especially active in placing his church in an advanced position on the question of divorce reform.

FAIR WISDOM

A Love Tale of Solomon.

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1909, by the Author, W. S. Edson.)
Based on Apocryphal Book of Wisdom of Solomon, especially chapters 8 to 11.

Book of the Wisdom of Solomon.—This is the sixth book of the Apocrypha, and contains 19 chapters. It may be conveniently divided into two parts: 1.—(Chapters 1-9)—It contains the doctrine of wisdom in its moral and intellectual aspects. 2.—(Chapters 10 to 19)—The doctrine of wisdom as shown in history. The first part contains the praise of wisdom as the source of the Egyptian and of the Israelites. From the internal evidence, it seems most reasonable to believe that the book was composed in Greek, at Alexandria, some time before the time of Philo (about 150-50 B. C.).

GEMS FROM THE BOOK.

Whoso despiseth wisdom and torture, he is miserable, and their hope is vain, their labors unfruitful, and their work unprofitable.

Wisdom is the gray hair unto men, and an unspotted life is old age.

The desire of wisdom bringeth to a kingdom.

Wisdom is glorious, and never fadeth away; yea, she is early seen of them that love her, and of such as seek her.

Whoso seeketh wisdom early shall have no great travail; for he shall find her sitting at his door.

To think upon wisdom is the perfection of wisdom.

Wisdom goeth about seeking such as are worthy of her, showeth herself favorable unto them in the ways, and meeteth them in every thought.

The very true beginning of wisdom is the desire of discipline; and the care of discipline is love. And love is the keeping of wisdom's laws.

The giving heed unto wisdom's laws is the assurance of incorruption.

The multitude of the wise is the welfare of the world; and a wise king is the upholding of the people.

Glorious is the fruit of good labors; and the root of wisdom shall never fall away.

Wisdom is a treasure unto men that never faileth; which they that use become the friends of God, being commended for the gifts that come from learning.

Wisdom is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Almighty.

THE STORY.

IT was in the long, long ago, when the good King David ruled in the land of Israel, and the Jews had become a mighty nation, possessing wealth and safety at home and holding the fear and the homage of the nations far and near. In accordance with the custom of those days the magnificence and the power and the glory of the kingly office was indicated by the number of women of the royal household, and David the king had a number of wives, and at the period of our story there was none more beautiful, or one who enjoyed the kingly favor to such a degree as the fair Bathsheba.

She it was who dwelt in the most beautiful of the palaces. She it was who enjoyed daily communion with the king, and shared with him in the activities of the royal household. And she it was who had been blessed with a most beautiful and a most promising baby boy, who at the time our story begins was developing into the early stages of that boyhood time which marks the border line of the state of young manhood.

This boy's name was Solomon. And the fame of the little prince had spread through all the royal household, and he no doubt would have been spoiled by the flattery and the petting of those about him; had it not been for the faithful ministry and watchful care of the Prophet Nathan, who from the early days of Solomon's babyhood had made it his special task to guard and guide the little life. And it was the touch of this Godly life and the instruction and encouragement which he was able to give which kept the little prince growing in body, mind and spirit so splendidly that he was famed as much for the precociousness of mind as he was for the comeliness of his countenance.

Such was Solomon at the time of our story when he met fair Wisdom and fell in love with her.

It was a real experience and the holy passions which she inspired were as real and held him as powerfully as though her presence had been a visible one. Nay, more, for the spiritual emotions far outweigh those of the fleshly desires in potency once they are quickened into being and are nurtured and fed by the unfailing manna of truth.

Solomon had the buoyancy and open-heartedness of youth and still possessed that subtle something which made him sensitive to the deeper things and indicated a depth of thought and character which mystified and delighted the old prophet as he gave him his daily instruction and pointed the upward way for his eager feet.

It was just a little thought, an idea, like a glinting ray of purest light flashing through the tiny crevice into the dark cavern, which broke in upon Solomon's soul one day as Nathan talked with him. Some incident had transpired which had raised the question as to the difference in the lives of men. Some made for good and were always upward to better things, while others were downward with evil in control. And Solomon had questioned why.

"Why couldn't people always choose that which was best and which would bring the best good to them and to others about them?" Solomon had asked, and Nathan had gone on to try and explain to the thoughtful young boy one of the great mysteries of the human soul.

And the little flash of supernal light which broke in upon his soul held him as one under a spell. A wonderful idea had broken in upon the young boy's heart, and he was impatient to be off by himself and to dream of that one idea. To let its fascinating charm take full possession of his soul.

"Ah, how wonderful," he exclaimed, with a sigh. "I wish she might come to me."

"Who?" questioned a low voice at his elbow, and turning he saw at one side, in the midst of the delicate tracery of the luxuriant foliage of a magnificent fern a face and form of surpassing loveliness.

"You, it must be," exclaimed Solomon, fervently, "for who can be as lovely as thou art? What is thy name?"

"I am Wisdom," came the answer in soft, musical tones which stirred the boy's soul to its very depths.

"Oh," exclaimed Solomon, with rapture, "I am so glad, for it must have been of thee I was just thinking."

"Yes?" responded the fair one, inquiringly, while she smiled in encouragement.

"Yea, who else could it have been. Could any one but Wisdom lead unerringly, and give richest blessing upon a life?" earnestly responded the prince.

The fair one made no reply, but stood silent as though waiting for further word, and Solomon again spoke, a great yearning sounding in his voice, as he said:

"Ah, what would not a life be in power and influence if he could have but thee always at his side?"

"And thou mayest," came the low sweet voice.

"Oh, can it be?" exclaimed Solomon, springing to his feet and making as though he would spring to the other side of the great drooping fern leaves and seize the beautiful creature in his arms.

"Nay, not so," responded Wisdom, causing Solomon to pause by her word and look and gesture. "I come as a gift from above."

And when Solomon looked again she was gone. With a disappointed cry he sprang forward and searched in breathless haste all through the garden plot, looking into every nook and cranny and under every leafy bower, but Wisdom was nowhere to be seen, and at last the prince threw himself down upon the green sward where he had at first been seated, and with almost a sob he exclaimed:

"She is indeed gone. Oh, that I might possess her?" Then he recalled her last words as she vanished, and he exclaimed: "Yea, I perceive I cannot obtain her except God give her me. I will seek him that he may give me this great gift." And throwing himself upon his face he lifted his voice and cried:

"O God of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word, and ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made, and ordered the world according to equity and righteousness and executed judgment with an upright heart: give me Wisdom, that sitteth by thy throne; and reject me not from among thy children. For I, thy servant, and son of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and too young for the understanding of judgment and laws, for though a man be never so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy Wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded. O send her out of thy holy heavens and from the throne of thy glory that being present she may labor with me, that I may know what is pleasing unto thee. For she knoweth and understandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my doings and preserve me in her power."

His prayer ended, he arose to find his old tutor, Nathan, standing near observing him.

"I have seen her," Solomon exclaimed in answer to Nathan's inquiring glance.

"Who?"

"Fair Wisdom."

"Thou doest well," was the fervid response.

"Yea, and better still, I have not only seen her, but God hath given her to me."

The fear of the Lord is the end of wisdom.

Temptation resisted is might acquired.

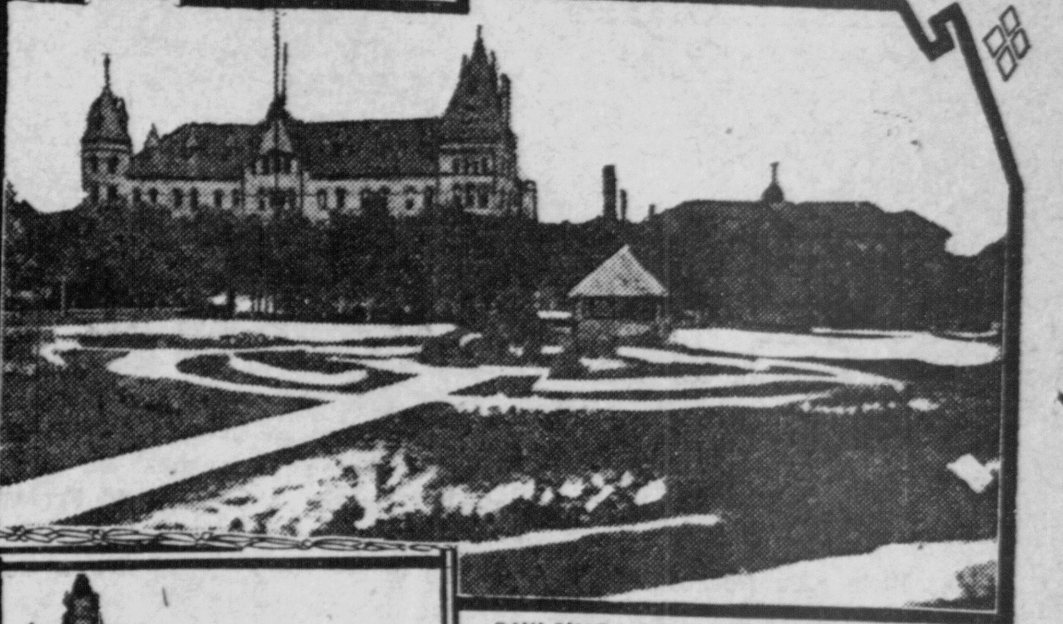

Feet swift to mischief are slow to service.

The heart well kept keeps the life.

The selfish soul shall be made lean.

The Lord thinks highly of the lowly.

UNION PRINTERS' HOME AT COLORADO SPRINGS

BUILDINGS OF UNION PRINTERS' HOME

HOSPITAL TENTS ON GROUNDS

Springs in order to give the membership at large a broader understanding of the great institution they are supporting.

Of the residents, some there are who are cripples; some are blind, many are old, and numbers have been exiled with a death sentence from tuberculosis, but are slowly building up the bodies that have been wasted by disease.

The printer, when he is admitted to the home, is supposed to bring with him a certain amount of clothes. After that everything, even to a weekly pension, is furnished him. Every care is taken in securing a food supply that is of the best. Milk and eggs are procured from the home's own dairy and poultry farm. An excellent library provides reading matter. There are facilities for all kinds of sports, while there are many festive occasions, such as the Fourth of July barbecue, the annual picnic in North Cheyenne Canon, the Christmas tree and the monthly winter night entertainments.

In the tuberculosis sanitarium every precaution is taken to safeguard the patient and to assure him of the best of treatment. Regular habits and hours are required and the drinking of intoxicants is strictly prohibited. All sanitary regulations are rigorously observed and the buildings are exceptionally well ventilated.

The main building is four stories in height and is of white lavastone with red sandstone trimmings. It contains 75 rooms, with the offices, kitchen, dining room and library. The building originally cost $75,000. The two-story addition will adjoin the main building on the north and will increase the library and housing facilities. The tuberculosis sanitarium is to the south of the main building and near it are the 20 tents of the solarium. This building is three stories in height, the total cost being $27,000. The superintendent's cottage is north of the main building, while the laundry, heating plant and barns are in the rear. A magnificent stone gateway spans the entrance to the grounds.

The trustees have within the last few years devoted especial attention to the treatment of tuberculosis, a disease to which printers are particularly subject because of the nature of their work. The methods employed by the Union Printers' Home in its successful battle against the "white plague" are attracting attention all over the country. At the International congress on tuberculosis, held in Washington last fall, the Printers' Home was represented by a prize-winning exhibit, and the model tent was presented, upon request, to the national association for the prevention of tuberculosis, for display during the winter tour of the principal cities of the United States. During the last few years a special commission has made a study of the disease, and as a result of its investigations the most approved and scientific methods have been adopted. The results have been little less than marvelous. So satisfactory have the results been in the "City of Sunshine," as Colorado Springs is familiarly called, that a proposition made at the Boston convention last August for the transfer of the tuberculosis sanitarium to Arizona was defeated by a decisive majority. In 1904, ten tents were erected near the sanitarium building. They have proven a valuable acquisition to the hospital service and their efficiency has been so thoroughly and satisfactorily demonstrated that the number has recently been doubled. The experimental stage in the tent treatment of tuberculosis has long since passed; and officials of the union are authority for the statement that fully 50 per cent. of the patients who have had the advantage of tent life have recovered health and strength and have been enabled again to assume their business duties. The percentage would be higher but for the fact that too many are not sent to Colorado until they are in the last stages of the disease. Those who are sent there in the earlier stages are, with proper care and treatment, sure of a prolongation of life, if not of permanent and absolute recovery.

To Count a Billion.
To count 1,000,000,000 would require a person to count 200 a minute for a period of 9,512 years, 342 days, five hours and 20 minutes, providing he should count continuously. But suppose we allow the counter 12 hours daily for rest, eating and sleeping, then he would need 19,025 years, 319 days, ten hours and 40 minutes in which to complete the task.
